Next meeting Monday, July 9, Work in rank of Esquire Members are requested to be present. Visitors are cordially invited. altch, the 'varsity fours and freshmen eights will be the first to race, and then the big struggle of the day will come soon after the noon hour.

As for the crew chances, it is a difficult thing to pick a winner between two eightoared crews which are evenly matched and oared crews which are evenly matched and which in all probability will finish a four-mile race within a couple of hundred feet of each other.

That the two crews are evenly matched seems to admit of little doubt, and Harvard sympathizers are inclined to believe that, if anything, the advantage this year is with the crimson.

It certainly is Harvard's turn to win, and at times since the crew has been at work on the Thames it has seemed as if this was Harvard's year at last. In 159, with Higgirson, who is now head coach, at stroke, Harvard won her last 'varsity eight-oared race against Yale. The next year Higgirson broke his leg two days before the race and Harding, who took Higginson's place, fainted when a length ahead at the three-mile mark.

SHELLS SEE-SAWED.

The following year Harvard and Yale rowed one of the closest races ever seen on the Thames, with the two shells see-sawing-the Thames, with the two shells see-sawingwith each other all the way down the course.

Last year Harvard had a fast eight, but run up against the fastest crew Viele ever turned out, and was fairly beaten, aithough by a close margin.

Higginson coacned last year's crew. McGrow stroked it, and Foster rowed at four.
These are the only men who are left from last year's squad to begin the work with this year, with the exception of Ayer, who is now rowing at three in the four-oar. The eight-oared crew this year had to be made up of green men at Harvard, and the result is certainly surprising.

There are eight strong, reliable men in the boat, and to a good man it seems to be one of the best all-around crews which has represented Harvard since 1860. The only serious question is whether they have any sprint—any racing speed—and it must be confessed that they have not shown any great amount of this thus far.

INCLINED SLIDES.

INCLINED SLIDES. The crew seems to be getting a little more COSMOS LODGE, NO. 252, A. F. & A. M.—Reshiar communication this (Monday) evening at 728 o clock at Grand and Finney avening. Work on the F. C. degree, Victors fraternally invited.

have more of a shove on the end of the stroke. This is partly due to the fact that the men are using inclined slides and partly to the fact that the men have been coached on his point. The catch is much less noticeable and the men are not expected to throw themselves into the very beginning of each stroke in the way which last year proved to be so tiresome.

The recovery has been made an all-important item this year, but whether the crew has finally succeeded in getting a slow recovery, or whether they have acquired a hang at the full reach is a question of dispute. There certainly seems to be a moment after the men get away out forward before they get their outs into the water and their power appulied. This appearance, however, is often caused by an extremely slow recovery, so that as long as the boat does not hitch between strokes it is not acquired a question of discovery many seems to be a mother they get their ours into the water however, is often caused by an extremely show recovery so that as long as the boat does not high the Maccabers of the More they seem to be a mother they get their ours into the water however, is often caused by an extremely show recovery, so that as long as the boat does not high the tween strokes it is not to be objected to. Up to a week and a half ago the Harvard shell was actually stopping between each stroke and to those following on the launch it seemed as though the coxyanian really went backward for a moment just before the catch of each stroke.

less and less until now there is very little hitch except when the stroke is run up to a couple of points over thirty. At a slow stroke there is no doubt that the crew is a good one and a powerful one, but it is hard to get a great deal of speed out of a crew rowing a twenty-cight stroke. The principal aim of Higginson for the last week or more has been to put some sprint into the men.

The Harvard yougsters have had ill-luck ever since Filley was taken from stroke and put into the varsity beat and since Pleasanton was obliged to leave the boat for nearly a week. Fortunately, Pleasanton returned, but the crew lost a good deal of headway during his absence, and it look a long time to get into shape again. At present they are a heavy crowd, with not a great deal of life and dash, which really is an essential above everything else in a freshmen crew.

The 'varsity four-oared is, as usual, a snappy organization at Harvard, and the men are looked upon as sure winners. In fact, it would be hard for Harvard oarsmen to look forward to a defeat in the four-oared race, even if the superiority of the Yale aggregation were easily apparent. As it is, it seems that Harvard has the better substitute boat.

Dillingham is a little man, but he is very lively and can run the stroke up and keep it up in good shape. Ayer, who for two years has rowed at No. 5 on the 'varsity leight, is rowing at No. 3, and rows very long and powerfuily.
